The Nature of Reality

One of the central themes of Cosmic Trigger III is the nature of reality. Wilson argues that reality is not a fixed and objective thing, but rather a fluid and subjective experience. He writes:

“ "Reality is a process, not a thing. It is a dance of energy, a play of forms. It is constantly changing, evolving, and transforming." ”

Wilson's view of reality is supported by the latest scientific research on consciousness and quantum mechanics. Scientists are now beginning to understand that the world is not a fixed and objective place, but rather a fluid and subjective experience.
